Annex I.0: Service Level Agreement

Service Level Agreement between NutriCalc® Ltd

And

NutriCalc® Online Service users

September 2023

Overview

NutriCalc Ltd provide SaaS (Software as a Service) based online services that are designed to be highly available and accessed with modern browsers.

This document describes a Service Level Agreement (SLA) between NutriCalc Ltd and NutriCalc Online Service subscribers [users]. It outlines the services offered by NutriCalc Ltd to NutriCalc Online Service subscribers. This SLA does not supersede any of the general NutriCalc Ltd policies or procedures. This SLA is a living document and may be revised at any time at the discretion of NutriCalc Ltd.

SLA purpose and scope

The purpose of this document is to inform NutriCalc Online Service users that processes are in place to provide high quality services and support to NutriCalc Online Service users.

This SLA provides clear description of service ownership, roles and responsibilities, service quality metrics, and available support. The SLA's scope is limited to services offered by NutriCalc Ltd to subscribers to the NutriCalc Online Service application. By definition, an SLA is an agreement and by using the NutriCalc Online Service, users are accepting our service level terms. It is understood, that while diligent effort will be made to fulfil this SLA by stakeholders, there may be exceptional circumstances when the SLA will not be realised. Please note that this SLA is intended purely for NutriCalc Online Service users and does not apply to users of the NutriCalc desktop application.

SLA Roles and responsibilities for supporting NutriCalc Online Service users

NutriCalc Online Service users shall be responsible for:

- using the software within the terms set out in the end user licence agreement (EULA)
- consuming services offered in a non-malicious manner and promptly reporting encountered issues.
- handling issues related to their hardware maintenance and failure.
- handling issues related to server software maintenance and failure (server operating systems and web servers, etc.)

NutriCalc Ltd will be responsible for the handling of issues due to failures of the underlying service.

Availability of services offered

We take service availability very seriously and aim to minimise downtime where possible and within our reasonable control. We will make commercially reasonable efforts to ensure that our service is available 24 hours a day 7 days a week with the following exceptions:

- (i) planned maintenance windows for planned events which we shall reasonably endeavour to give you advanced notice about; these outages will not count towards 'downtime' figures and will be scheduled at such times as to cause the least inconvenience to users.

Notification of these events will also be published in a banner at the top of the App.

- (ii) unavailability due to circumstances beyond our control (unplanned 'outages') which may include but are not limited to acts of God (Floods, Fires, Earthquakes), civil unrest, acts of terror etc. Service interruptions for emergency fixes and unscheduled outages will be resolved as a matter of urgency and will follow our internal procedures.

Available support and means of reporting issues

For our standard support service, our support team are available from Monday through to Friday between 9am and 5pm UK time. For anything other than categories deemed as 'critical'; urgent support outside of these hours is available at a charge of £250 (+VAT where applicable) per hour.

Available user support for application usage will include:

- Self-service via the Support Centre within the app
- Knowledge base articles, and online video tutorials
- Telephone support is available to Premium plan subscribers*.
- Email support will also be available for all users with a recognised email address via the Support Centre, enabling users to raise a support ticket. Tickets shall be closed either; when the user has confirmed that the issue has been resolved for them; they have been given a workaround; or they have failed to respond to a 'solved' ticket for 4 days.

Emails received outside of office hours will be collected, however no action can be guaranteed until the next working day.

*NutriCalc Ltd are not able to provide any form of telephone support to subscribers of the Professional/Professional Plus plans. Under some circumstances it may be necessary for NutriCalc Ltd staff to contact a subscriber via the telephone in order to resolve their issue in a timely manner.

Service Interruptions – users do not need to report issues related to service outages. The system will be monitored with automated tools/processes and we will notify all users as soon as possible if any outages occur. On receipt of a report of system issues, the designated officer on duty will analyse the reported issues and send them to an appropriate party (service development team, IT staff, etc). All significant outages will be reported via a status page on the NutriCalc website, which users are encouraged to check as a first port of call if an outage is suspected.

User support for resolving service issues such as service interruptions, application response times, software "bugs", etc. will be categorised as follows:

NutriCalc Online Service Issue Resolution Response Times

Priority	Severity	Examples	Maximum Response times
1 – Critical	Service Level Outage or a system level outage affecting all users. Major NutriCalc Online services are disrupted.	Service is not available; Application reports issues during use.	2 hours
2 – High	Large number of users are impacted, and no work around exists	Slow application response time, session timeouts, some application area(s) are malfunctioning	24 hours
3 – Medium	Minimal impact to users of	Users running a supported browser are affected but can	72 hours

	the services. The users are still able to use the services although minor disruptions are possible.	use an alternative browser. Some minor application functionality is malfunctioning, but work arounds exist to bypass the issues.
4 – Low	No impact on users. The issue reported of minor severity and does not restrict users' access to the services.	A request for a new feature. A minor issue is reported to the user experience such as incorrect spelling.	5 days

Performance of services offered

The NutriCalc Online Service is a web-based application. Provided that the user is using a supported browser, version and screen size and has a reliable broadband connection that is not experiencing network related delays connecting to the server, NutriCalc Ltd would expect that the application screen load and response time should happen within seconds. Should this not be what you normally experience with the NutriCalc Online Service, please contact the helpdesk.

An estimate of the resolution time will be supplied as part of the response to the support. Over the course of issue investigation, priority may be changed. If it is determined that an issue affects more users than initially estimated, the severity will be increased, and more effort spent on finding a solution. Likewise, if it is determined that a work around, such as using an alternative browser is available, the severity may be lowered. The team working on the issue will be responsible for changing the severity level. The team will communicate with the user/s to keep them updated.

Quality metrics for services offered

Quality metrics shall be used to evaluate the state/performance of the services offered and to determine when a change in strategy is required or additional resources are needed.

Please note that uptime will be determined based on data reported by our quality metrics. Downtime due to announced maintenance will not be used in uptime calculations. Reports of downtime submitted by users will be investigated, but won't necessarily be used to calculate downtime, since downtime experienced by users can be related to network issues on the user hardware/network. Uptime will be measured automatically by quality metrics monitoring the performance/status of the Online Services. Overall uptime for the period September 2020 – September 2021 was 99.99%

Changes to SLA

This SLA will be reviewed no less frequently than annually. An SLA is a living document and may be revised after review by the NutriCalc Ltd team. Updates to the SLA will be necessary from time to time and advanced notice of changes will be published in a timely manner.
